Saturday, January 7. 1721.

Kingston in Jamaica, September 27.

TH E latter End of August, the Musquito Indians, to the Number of about 1300 Men, landed at Black River, in Consequence of an Agreement between their King and his Excellency Sir Nicholas Laws, our Governour, and being well armed, clothed, and supplied with Provisions, at the Expence of the Government of this Island, they began their March this Day to the Windward, against the rebellious and run-away Negroes, who are scattered about the mountainous Parts, and very much infect the Country. They have Orders to kill and destroy them. On the 16th Instant, eight Men belonging to the Hunter Privateer, were tried for assembling before the House of Capt. John Lewis, in a riotous Manner in Arms, and demanding of him a Chest of Money, and refusing to disperse after thrice reading of the Proclamation against Riots; so that Colonel Willis was obliged to order the Regiment to march again to them and disperse them by Force, and seize several of them. They being all found guilty, were sentenced to stand in the Pillory, a Year a Imprisonment, and to pay each a Fine of 50 Pounds. On the 20th, two of the eight stood in the Pillory, according to their Sentence, two more the 21st, and the other four the 22d and 23d. The 16th two Men were also tried and sentenced to be hang'd, drawn, and quarter'd, for assisting the Spaniards in robbing and carrying off the Island several Negroes. We have an Account, that about 140 Persons, out of 600 Souls which belonged to the Fleet which was lately cast away in the dreadful Hurricane, have been saved; particularly 33 Sailors out of the Man of War, Capt. Laming, Capt. Kingston, Colonel Towgood, Mr. Goddard and his Wife, and one Child, and the three Black Princes which were Passengers.

Stockholm, Dec. 14. On the 10th Instant, Count Frytagh, the Emperor's Envoy Extraordinary, had a publick Audience of the King, and afterwards of the Queen. Yesterday a general Thanksgiving was solemnized, on Occasion of Peace being concluded between this Kingdom, and those of Great Britain, Denmark, and Prussia: Their Majesties went in publick to the great Church, where the Te Deum was sung, and a Discharge made of the Cannon, and several Volleys of Musket-Shot. When their Majesties had dined, they went a second Time to Church, and the Te Deum was repeated as before. At Night a fine Ball was prepared at Court, for the Diversion of the Nobility and the Foreign Ministers, who paid their congratulatory Compliments to their Majesties on the happy Conclusion of the present triple Alliance. Count Meyerfeld is in Scania, from whence he is to proceed to Pomerania, to take Possession of that Country, so soon as he is informed of the Evacuation of Stralsund.

Vienna, Dec. 18. The Emperor has sent Orders to Cardinal Schrotenbach, Viceroy of Naples, to abolish the Taxes which had been made in that Kingdom for carrying on the late Sicilian War; the Suppression of those Taxes will be very pleasing to the Neapolitans, and contribute to their firm Attachment to the illustrious House of Austria. Yesterday Prince Eugene of Savoy received a Letter from the Governour of Kehl, representing the bad Condition of that Fortrefs, and desiring the Prince to use his Instances with the Emperor, that Orders may be given to his Principal Commissary at Brisach, the Cardinal of Saxe-Zeitz, for recommending very earnestly to the General Diet, that a Subsidy may be granted to carry on the Repaire of the Fortifications of that important Place. The Waters of the Danube have risen lately to so great a Height, as to overflow a considerable Part of the Country; but the great Rains being abated at present, that River flows only in its proper Channel. The Emperor has given 800000 German Florins to the Princess Dowager of Baden, in Consideration of some Pretensions of her deceased Husband. The Dutchess Dowager of Mecklenbourg has presented a Memorial to the Emperor, praying him to recommend the Care of her Interests to the Commissaries appointed to terminate the Differences between the Duke and the Nobility of Mecklenbourg. It is said that the Bank of this City is to advance 25 or 26 Millions to the Emperor upon the Privilege of Farming several Revenues. The Pope is very solicitous with the Emperor, to engage him to revoke his late Edict for obliging the Ecclesiasticks to refund the Estates they have acquired in Land.

Hague, Jan. 7. The Deputies appointed for Foreign Affairs, have under Consideration the late Memorial presented by Baron Flohr, in order to their making a Report concerning it; and the States of Holland have likewise Copies of the same. It is said that Memorial contains some Complaints made by the Baron for his having been publicly cited by the Court of Justice, and against some other Measures taken relating to the Privileges due to his Rank as a Publick Minister, for which he hopes their High Mightinesses will procure him Reparation.

Some Persons Curiosity here is much taken up in discovering what may be the Grounds of his Sardinian Majesty's particular Civilities shewn these three Months past to the Dutch Secretary at Turin. It is observed that that Secretary goes a hunting very frequently with his Majesty, is frequently admitted to the honour of private Conferences and other Marks of Favour; but cannot all this fall out without alarming the Curiosity of private Politicians.

If the rest of the Provinces imitate, as 'tis likely they will, the Example of those of Holland, Friesland, and Groningen, then all the Representations made by Count Rechteren to the States General in defence of the Conduct of his Brother the Governour of Tournay, will be in Vain. This latter Province in Agreement with the others, has caused a Declaration to be made to the States General of its Resolution, which contains, amongst other Points, "That the States of Groningen not being able to endure, that a Body so venerable as is the Council of State, should be treated prejudicially, as is notorious it has been for some time past, and very lately too; they therefore unanimously give into the Opinion of the States of Holland, which is, that the States of Overysel be persuaded to oblige the Count, he being an Inhabitant of their Province as well as a Member of its Regency, to make publick Reparation to the Council of State, proportionably to the undecency committed against it."

As to Matters concerning Religion in the Palatinate, it is still much to be apprehended, that the dark Intreagues of the Catholics, together with the Supineness, and, which is worse, the Disunion among some of the Protestant Members, will for a long time retard the Blessing of Redress. Peoples Hearts began to be pretty well eased by the Emperor's gracious Acceptance of the

Answer

Answer from the Protestant-Members of the Imperial Diet which was presented by the Agent of Saxe, and which, it was hoped, would soon produce at least some Dawn of Relief; but unhappily for the Protestants, that good News is yet to come. The Elector Palatine persisted long in shewing his Disinclination against receiving the Protestants intended Deputation in the Person of the Hanoverian Secretary; and his Minister at the Diet finding that all the indirect Steps he had taken to elude it signified nothing, has at last protested formally against it: But he avoided, however giving the Protestant Body a Copy of his Orders for Protecting, which was required of him by the Members, who would at the Instant he had shewn those Orders, have likewise shewed him their candid Instructions and equitable Credentials given to the Secretary, to the end the Elector Palatine might be advertised beforehand of the Protestant Members strict Intention of behaving with all possible Respectfulness as well as Justice to his Electoral Highness. It is said, the Hanoverian Secretary arrived at Manheim on the 16th of the last Month, and that before his setting out thither he was carefully and fully informed concerning the Ceremonial used at that Court, in order not to omit the least Punctilio of Decorum that might smooth the Way towards his good Reception by the Elector.

London, January 7.

Last Night arrived a Mail from France.

Paris, Jan. 11. The pestilential Distemper still rages in Provence: Some Accounts mention its being got into Toulon; but it is certainly at St. Remy, whither the Parliament was lately obliged to retreat. Out of 4 or 5000 Persons lately inhabiting the Principality of Martigues, the Plague has now left remaining scarcely 500. The People of Lions are much alarmed at the approaches of the Pestilence, and continue the utmost Precautions against its spreading: The Inhabitants of Dauphiné do the like; and the Count de Medavy, the Governour of that Province, has posted 10000 Men on the Frontiers towards Provence, to prevent all Communication with those Parts.

It is said that a Reduction will soon be made among the Troops; 'tis thought that 10 Men a Company in the Regiments of Foot, and six Men in each Troop of Horse, are to be reduced.

Messieurs Reveft, Bourgeois, and Fromaget, were released from their Imprisonment on the 9th Instant, their Accounts having been found just.

The Pope's Bulls for the Grand Mastership of St. Lazarus in favour of the Duke of Chartres, arrived on the 9th Instant.

By an Extraordinary Courier from Madrid we have received a confirmatory Account of the Battle fought on the 21st of the last Month, between the Spaniards and the Moors, in which the latter were defeated, and had 8000 Men killed.

Bristol, Jan. 4. Yesterday arrived the Bedminster from Carolina, in 6 Weeks. The Raymond Gale was arrived at Carolina from Angola, with 300 Negroes, she belongs to this Port; and was bound to Virginia, but could not get in there. The Goodspeed of Liverpool, bound to London, mistook the Channel, and came up to Kingroad Yesterday Morning, in 6 Weeks from Virginia.

Having finished the Works of the famous Palladio, and distributed the same to the Subscribers according to the Number printed: I have been desired by several Gentlemen to make a second Edition, to which they have subscribed, and it will be published without any Delay, by the End of February next: The Particulars of which have been published in my Proposals; and Subscriptions are taken in by Mr. Leoni, at his House in King-street, near St. James's Square, Mr. Du Noyer, Bookeller, at the End-mus's Head in the Strand; Mr. Taylor, Printseller, in Fleet-street; Mr. Woodward, Bookseller, near Temple-bar; Mr. Graves's, next White's Chocolate House in St. James's-street; Mr. Stokoe, at the Golden Key, at Charing-cross; Mr. Mearns's at the Lamb, Mr. Clay at the Bible, both without Temple-Bar; Mr. R. Brown, Stationer, in Castle-Alley, under the Royal Exchange; Mr. Vantack, Printer, at the Golden Angel, in Drury-lane; Mr. Strahan, at the Golden Ball over-against the Royal Exchange in Cornhill; Mr. Tho. Edlin, at the Prince's Arms over-against Exeter Change in the Strand.

A Gentleman that lived several Years abroad, and travell'd through great Part of Europe, and being curious in his Observations in Places he pass'd, came to the Knowledge of a most curious and particular Method in Brewing Malt Liquors, which are boiled in a wooden Tun or Vessel, by which Means, five Parts in six of the Fuel is saved, and may be performed in half the usual Time. It likewise saves the Charge of a Copper: The Expense of the Machine will not be the Charge of the hanging the Copper; it makes the drink strong, fine, good, and refreshing, he having often drank of it with greater Approbation than any he has drank either in England or Wales. This Method of Brewing may be of great Advantage as well to publick Brewers as private Families, not only by saving the Charge of a Copper, but five Parts in six of the Fuel, in those Counties where it is scarce and dear, but in saving Time, it may be performed with Sea-Coal, Charcoal, Wood, Fern, or Straw. This is proposed for a general Benefit to all desiring to know the Secret, for the Charge of a Guinea, Receipts for which will be soon published, and where to be had.
